Idea that No Nuclear Defense Is Possible Is Called 'Nonsense'

EDITOR'S NOTE: The notion that no really effective civil defense is possible against nuclear attack, a top atomic scientist says is dangerous nonsense. This second of three articles discusses the practical steps in protecting Americans against blast and fallout.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller has grave respect for the aim of Soviet rockets bearing nuclear warheads.
"They are accurate," says the University of California physicist. They could hit assigned cities or military targets, unless anti-missiles or other defenses brought them down.
Warning systems promise to sound about 20 minutes advance notice—time enough for most people to take shelter.
But—few shelters exist.
Dr. Teller strongly urges a huge national effort to build public and private shelters from city to hamlet.

With them, nine out of 10 citizens could survive, he declares.

Without them, he fears, six or eight out of 10 will die.

The choice is that stark, in the eyes of the scientist whose genius contributed to fashioning the H-bomb.

Millions of people live in the fatalistic fear that if bombs fall, each will be directly underneath—or utterly doomed by radioactive winds and fallout.

Dr. Teller calls this dangerous nonsense.

Sketching basic essentials for shelters, he says many regions of the country would need only fallout shelters in basements for protection against radioactive clouds sweeping downwind from blasts.

The greatest danger would last only a few hours or a day, since radioactivity of the cloud declines rapidly with time and distance, he explains. Closed windows could keep out fallout radiation and make a sizeable difference. Fallout striking the ground or roof could be "hot" for longer periods. Stores of water and food could carry millions through the time of real hazard.

Simple shelters could be made of wood or sandbags, or dug into the foundation. Dr. Willard Libby, former member of the Atomic Energy Commission, built such a home shelter for about $50.

A prime need, everywhere, is for really cheap radiation detectors to judge hazards, and for battery-powered radios to hear official reports.

Suburban homes near big cities, on or near the fringes of blast areas, would need sturdier, more elaborate shelters to withstand shock and hotter radiation. Direct hits would wipe them out, but bombs won't fall everywhere like

Carla Triggers Heavy Rain in Missouri Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rains triggered by dying Hurricane Carla sent smaller streams on record rampages in the Lower Missouri River Valley Wednesday.

Six deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the sudden torrent of flood water.

Thousands were driven from their homes and damage was widespread. The main damage was along the Blue River as it cuts across the residential suburbs south and east of Kansas City and through an area of close-packed industries between Kansas City and Independence, Mo.

The dying storm continued to touch off drenching rains over the Upper Midwest from the Middle Mississippi northward to Michigan and westward to the Eastern Dakotas.

Except for some cloudiness in the Central Plains and the Northern Pacific Coast, the rest of the country had mostly fair weather.

Nighttime temperatures dropped into the cool 30s and 40s across the North Central Border states and ranged to the 60s and 70s elsewhere, but some 50 and 60 degree readings in the Northeast and along the Pacific Coast.

More rain was expected during the day for the Midwest with scattered showers and thundershowers eastward into New England and from the Ohio Valley south-eastward to the South Atlantic and Eastern Gulf states.

Tot Only Bruised By 30-Foot Plunge

CLEVELAND (AP)—"The hand of God must have caught her." That's how Mrs. Mabel Williams described her feelings after her 2-year-old daughter, Darlene, fell from the window of a third floor apartment to a cement driveway 30 feet below. The child suffered a bump on the head and bruises of the left shoulder and side.

Mrs. Williams had left Darlene in the care of her four other children, ages 8 through 11, while she went to the store and then visited her mother.

Darlene apparently crawled out of her mother's bed near the window and exited through a loose section of the screen.

Second Unmanned Space Shot Slated

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—America's drive to hurl a U.S. astronaut into orbit by the end of the year has received vigorous impetus from the successful recovery of a Mercury space capsule after it circled the globe.

But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration intends to rocket one more capsule into orbit, perhaps with a chimpanzee passenger, before risking a human life on the journey into space.

An Atlas missile propelled a two-ton capsule carrying a mechanical man into a 17,519-mile-an-hour sweep around the earth Wednesday. Braking rockets sent the spacecraft out of orbit and it parachuted safely into the Atlantic Ocean 161 miles east of Bermuda after a 109-minute trip. The destroyer USS Decatur retrieved it.

A few minor electronic difficulties cropped up on the flight, including a faulty electrical inverter, a possible leak in the oxygen supply system and loss of contact with the robot spaceman's tape-recorder "voice" halfway through the test.

Robert Gilruth, Project Mercury director, reported these failings alone would not necessitate another preliminary shot before man is sent aloft.

"We'll have to look at the capsule and into the problems to see if they were serious," Gilruth said. "But we feel that no matter what we find, we want to fly a capsule with a quick-release escape hatch once more before putting a man in orbit."

NASA Administrator James E. Webb said in Washington there definitely will be one more unmanned orbital flight before an attempt is made to orbit a human pilot. He said this would come in six to eight weeks.

Katanga Rebels Oppose U.N.

Elisabethville Scene Of Sporadic Fighting

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga troops and armed civilians kept up sporadic resistance today to the United Nations takeover of their capital of Elisabethville. But the United Nations claimed its troops control all strategic points in the town.

Firing continued throughout the night and it was reported that the Katanga forces cut off all electric power in the provincial capital.

Radio monitors picked up a new station calling itself "Radio Free Katanga" which claimed the United Nations controlled only half of Elisabethville and that resistance would continue.

The whereabouts of President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was a mystery.

The threat of guerrilla warfare in the rich province remained.

The 41-year-old Tshombe was offered refuge by Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the neighboring Central African Federation of the Rhodesias and Nyasaland. Welensky rushed white troops to Katanga's border Wednesday. Reports persisted that Tshombe had crossed into Rhodesia.

Informants in Leopoldville said a U.N. relief column set out for the nearby mining center of Jadotville, where 150 beleaguered Irish soldiers have been under constant attack by 500 Katanga soldiers.

A U.N. spokesman said fighting through the night was limited to isolated pockets where white officers have rallied the local Katanga troops. Most of these officers are believed to be Belgian, but a number of British, Rhodesian and French were reported among them.

So far, said a U.N. spokesman, two U.N. troops—a Swedish officer and an Indian soldier—have been killed in Elisabethville battle. United Nations wounded include seven Indians, three Swedes, four Irishmen and a Norwegian doctor.

The Katanga forces are believed to have suffered about 40 dead and probably three times as many wounded.

Kadar Again Boss Of Hungarians

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Communist party chief Janos Kadar has again taken on the post of premier in a major government shakeup. He quickly announced a boost in Hungary's military spending.

Kadar took over the premiership from Ferenc Munnich, an old revolutionary. They had ridden to power together when the Soviet Union crushed the Hungarian uprising of 1956.

The shakeup, announced on Wednesday by the presidential council, makes Kadar the official government spokesman. His dual role parallels that of Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet premier and party chief.

Kadar, 49, last held the two jobs in 1958, when he relinquished the premiership to Munnich.

Underground Shots To Be Of Low Yield

Joint Congressional Panel Gets Briefing On Russian Blasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to resume underground nuclear testing within a week or 10 days.

This became known today as the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee called a closed session to go over plans for the new American series and to hear a top secret analysis of the nine Soviet blasts since Sept. 1. The two latest shots came Wednesday.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the Senate-House group, told a reporter that Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department experts are "working night and day" to get the American tests under way.

Holifield said that the experiments will start with a number of underground blasts of relatively low yield.

The joint committee will get its secret briefing from Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and Maj. Gen. F. J. Rodenhauer, representing the Defense Department unit that will handle the military phases of the Nevada test series.

Various explanations have been advanced for the wide range of power yield detected from the nine Soviet blasts. Wednesday's shots were reported by the AEC as being in the low to intermediate range.

In nuclear terminology, low range could mean a force comparable to the American atomic bombs that blasted Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They had the explosive equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

Some shots in the new Soviet series have exceeded the 1-million-ton range. Some scientists have suggested the Soviets are testing trigger devices for a superbomb that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said he will build with the punch of 100 million tons of TNT.

The Public Health Service reversed itself Wednesday night and said there had been a mistake earlier in the day when it reported an abrupt increase in atmospheric radiation detected by its fallout station in Phoenix, Ariz.

A spokesman said the corrected reading for Tuesday was "more comparable to figures earlier in the month." However, the health service stressed that even the mistaken higher reading was not high enough to pose a health threat.

Driver Unhurt As Tree Limb Falls on Auto

A Kingston area motorist escaped possible serious injury at 9:30 a. m. today when a huge limb fell from a tree, striking his auto. The incident was on Kingston Pike near the intersection of Route 56.

Deputy Sheriff Dixie Waters said when he arrived a frightened, but uninjured Robert E. Arledge, 27, Route 1, Kingston, was checking damages to his late model convertible.

The tree limb, downed by rather strong winds, struck the top of the auto. A branch, about five inches in diameter, smashed through the windshield of the vehicle directly above the steering wheel.

Deputy Waters said if Arledge had been traveling at a faster speed he may have been seriously injured, judging from the angle the limb entered the windshield.

THE AUTO suffered extensive damage. The hood, top, trunk lid, mirrors and left side of the vehicle bore the brunt of the tree limb.

Deputy Waters estimated damage at $500.

Resident Just Stares At Wood Pile—Home

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A man stared at the crazily tilted pile of wood that used to be his home.

A woman, tears in her eyes, pulled clothing from another mound of debris.

A little girl clutching a teddy bear climbed from her daddy's car after being a refugee for five days.

Her father, unshaven, red-eyed and so tired his shoulders dropped gave only a flicker of a smile at finding his house survived.

Sightseers, gawking like people always do after a disaster, took pictures of Galveston's tornado rubble, its wind damage, its tired workers.

But everyone wasn't depressed when Wednesday dawned and the sun peaked through to show Galveston's storm damage.

John Anderson laughed and tried a joke as he swept slimy mud from his typewriter store.

"That portable over there will be going cheap," he said.

The typewriter, atop a three-foot stove, had a water mark halfway up its shipping box.

Cars jammed the Gulf Freeway into Galveston by midafternoon Wednesday — people back, sightseers flowing in.

They found Galveston in bad shape.

Streets need repairing. The water and the wind ripped hunks of asphalt from streets to expose the bricks underneath.

People cluttered a temporary emergency room at John Sealy Hospital. The regular emergency room got flooded.

A man helped a whimpering woman down the hospital's steps. Her arm was in a sling.

"She slipped in the damn mud," the man said.

"That's what we're getting now," a weary doctor said. "People who hurt themselves trying to clean up after the storm."

NAACP Aide Faces Theft Accusation

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Eula Spencer of Lorain, treasurer of the Lorain branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been accused of embezzling $1,363.32 from the groups funds.

According to Floyd Harris, assistant county prosecutor, Mrs. Spencer has returned $472 to the NAACP account over the last three weeks. The warrant accusing Mrs. Spencer was signed by Jack Rutledge, branch president, who said an audit revealed the shortage. Mrs. Spencer became treasurer in January, 1960.

Thug Pays Second Call To Cincy Savings Office

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police sought a gunman today who paid two visits to the American Home Savings Association this summer, robbing it of a total of $4,400.

Shirley Robbins, cashier, said the same man robbed the association at gunpoint both Wednesday and July 28. The bandit got $3100 Wednesday and $1,300 July 28.

Ohio Welfare Executives Pay Unannounced Visit to County

Officials from the Ohio Department of Welfare paid an unannounced visit to Pickaway County Welfare Director Pauline J. Reese's office about 10:30 a. m. today in the latest round of maneuvers of the local Welfare agency relocation situation.

E. V. Grevenkamp, state Department of Public Welfare personnel director, and John Lautzenheiser, a departmental staff aid, said their call was a "fact-finding visit to bring this situation into focus."

A political furor was touched off Monday afternoon when Pickaway County Commissioners refused to approve a lease of a building at 121 S. Scioto St. to serve as a new headquarters for county welfare activities. The lease had been handled by George C. Barnes, local real estate broker, for the owner, Tull M. Barnes, a relative.

Commissioner Lloyd Melvin was accused at the Monday session by Miss Reese of permitting private influence to govern his decision to pass on the motion for approval.

MELVIN denied this. He stated he was in possession of certain facts about the transaction which he wanted to verify before taking any stand. Commission chairman Charles Morris Jr. refused to second the approval motion offered by Commissioner Clyde Michel, saying he wanted "a unanimous decision or none at all."

The issue died during the meeting for lack of a second.

Other measures were to be considered by the Commission, including the possibility of relocating the Welfare Department in other county-owned property. No report has been made on this intention.

The state officials' arrival here today was described as a move prompted by information received in the Columbus state headquarters via public news media. "We were under the impression as far as the state was concerned that the issue had been decided locally," Grevenkamp commented.

He noted the Division of Social Administration only approves or rejects studies of new departmental housing made by local authorities. "The Barnes property had been approved by the state and we had been led to believe the Pickaway County Commissioners would act favorably on this recommendation," the director added.

What state personnel will now attempt to do is to organize all facts in the matter so the Commissioners can definitely decide the issue one way or the other, he said.

AFTER ARRIVING here Grevenkamp had Miss Reese notify Charles Mowery, owner of a structure at 227 N. Scioto St. rejected by the state for the department, of their presence.

The two men, Mowery and the county director inspected Mowery's property first-hand late this morning. Measurements and exterior floor plans and photographs were taken. A similar tour of Barnes' building was made shortly after noon.

After completing their inspection, Grevenkamp summed up the opinion of the state organization by stating "We feel the two houses should now stand on their own merit."

State and federal funds are used to pay most of the rent charges when welfare department activities are carried on in private property.

Anti-Nuclear Group Defies London Police

LONDON (AP)—Followers of philosopher Bertrand Russell announced today they will defy a police ban and go ahead Sunday with a giant rally to denounce nuclear weapons.

The prospects were that the organizers will land in jail alongside the 89-year-old philosopher and 32 of his backers, doing time for breach of the peace.

In a rare order for Britain, where free speech is traditional police Wednesday banned the anti-bomb "Committee of 100" from any activities Sunday in a mile square area of London.

The citadel of London's soap box orators, a corner of Hyde Park, was left outside the restricted zone. So was the Soviet Embassy, where there have been antibomb demonstrations.

But Home Secretary Richard A. Butler signed an order banning the demonstrators from Trafalgar Square where the U.S. Embassy stands, Piccadilly Circus and Buckingham Palace.

Police apparently feared the rally could touch off riots between marchers and pro-bomb elements.

Canton Rebel Cops Make Vice Raids

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Canton's "Rebel" police had no comment to make today or orders from their superiors to stop making raids against suspected vice spots.

City officials called the patrolmen in Wednesday, complimented them on last week's raids, but told them to follow the chain of command.

Said Mayor Charles L. Babcock: "This disruption of departmental authority... and disregard for the orders of the commanding officers would lead to a reign of anarchy in the police department."

Chief Frank J. Burnosky told his men any further disregard for rules will be "subject to departmental disciplinary measures."

shelter designs are badly needed, Dr. Teller adds.
For big cities and towns, mass shelters are the safest answer, with enough of them "so people could walk to them in five to ten minutes."
"Shelters should be sealable, with fire doors. If subways were used, as in New York City, fire doors could keep air from being sucked out of tunnels and stations. Subways could be equipped this way in a matter of months with enough effort."

Basements of big buildings could provide shelter for millions of city dwellers, and future buildings should be built "to take as much over-pressure as possible," Dr. Teller says.

"The idea that any shelter should be able to withstand 200 pounds pressure per square inch is simply not feasible—it is too expensive. We have to recognize there will be some casualties. The goal is to keep them to a minimum. To make all shelters 100 per cent safe would require all kinds of expensive things."

The Soviets talk about a prodigious bomb equal to 100 million tons of TNT, and Dr. Teller says this probably could cause in a shelter 200 feet deep if the bomb exploded on the ground close by. But such a bomb "is not a militarily useful thing," and he doubts the Soviets really mean to build it.

Schools To Close For Teachers Meet

Hepatitis May Linger During Fall

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state health director warns that flu bugs are coming back to Ohio, and that hepatitis may linger for a time.

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, the director, spoke Wednesday at the 42nd annual health commissioners' conference.

"We are probably due for some Asian Flu outbreaks, since they come in two to three year cycles," Dr. Dwork said. "We are overdue for type B influenza which usually comes in four to six year cycles."

He suggested immediate vaccination for the three most vulnerable groups, persons with heart, pulmonary and other chronic disease and diabetes; persons over 65 and pregnant women.

He said hepatitis should have reached its peak in the unprecedented number of cases last spring, but may maintain a high incidence this fall. If it does, he said, "we probably will continue to have trouble with a limited gamma globulin supply."

The health director said tuberculosis remains the No. 1 communicable disease problem, primarily because successful measures in fighting it have resulted in public apathy, and the mistaken belief the TB problem is completely licked.

Ohio Pacifist, 72, Is Ruled as Sane

WASHINGTON (AP) — Max Sandin, a 72-year-old Cleveland pacifist who tried to starve sitting outside the secretary of treasury's office, has been found sound of mind and discharged on his own responsibility.

The sign painter went on his hunger strike because his conscience would not allow him to "pay income taxes for war" and the Internal Revenue Service had claimed his social security check for payment of back taxes.

Secret service agents quickly ended the "strike" and metropolitan police sent him to a hospital for mental observation.

Monday the District of Columbia Commission on Mental Health dismissed a petition to commit Sandin to an insane institution. The commission said Tuesday the finding that Sandin was of sound mind came after examining Sandin and discussions with relatives, friends and witnesses.

The Light Side

Chief of Police Robert Temple tomorrow will celebrate his 10th anniversary with the Circleville Police Department. He was appointed a patrolman September 15, 1951.

Chief Temple's career with the local police unit was interrupted when he spent two years of active service with the Armed Forces. . . . He said today it seemed like only yesterday when he walked through the door of the station for the first time.

Temple first served with the department under the memorable Chief William McCrady. . . .

He received his appointment as chief April 15, 1960, shortly after the death of Chief Elmer Merriam.

After a decade of service with the department, Temple today said he is aware there is much more to learn concerning police work. . . . he noted the last 10 years have been profitable experience-wise. But the years ahead will mean much, he added.

Greek Princess To Wed Spaniard

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The royal palace today announced the engagement of Princess Sophie of Greece to Prince Juan Carlos, son of the pretender to the Spanish throne.

The match is of more than passing importance, since the young Spaniard is perhaps the only member of Europe's unemployed royalty with a fair chance of mounting a throne.

There is strong sentiment in Spain for restoration of the monarchy after Generalissimo Franco dies.

Franco, now 68, has discussed the question with the prince's father, Don Juan, although no firm announcement has been made. Prince Juan Carlos and his fiancée, both 23, were vacationing in Switzerland with the Greek royal family when the announcement was made by Sophie's brother, Crown Prince Constantine.

Ohio General Motors Picture Looks Better with Accord

CLEVELAND (AP)—The strike situation at General Motors Corp. plants in Ohio looked considerably better today after settlements were reported at some big GM plants.

Strikes over local issues Monday idled some 35,000 workers at 14 GM plants in Ohio. By this morning, employees were back at work in plants employing some 8,150 workers, and agreements were reported at four other plants employing a total of 12,300.

Plants at which agreement was reached Wednesday include the Parma Chevrolet plant, with 6,500 workers; Euclid Fisher Body, 1,500; Sandusky New Departure, 1,700, and the Mansfield Fisher Body, 2,603 workers. The agreements are subject to ratification by UAW members.

However, it appeared that because of parts shortages the struck plants might not reopen until settlement is reached at other plants in the vast GM network.

A GM spokesman said some plants had no place to ship their parts until the assembly plants start up.

At the big Parma plant, which makes automatic transmissions and stampings, the agreement reached covered seniority, improved overtime equalization, a union official reported.

At Elyria, where 790 are employed in the Brown-Lipe-Chapin division plant, production was to resume today on radiator grills, interior panels and headlight rims. Workers at Elyria had joined the walkout despite earlier agreement on plant-level issues. They discontinued their picket lines and started back to work Wednesday.

In Warren, 4,700 members of the International Electric Workers Union at GM's Packard Electric division were to return to work today. They ended their three-day strike shortly after noon Wednesday. They had walked out even though their national leaders had extended their contract with GM until midnight tonight. The GM official said they had not signed a local agreement, and could not say what they would do when the deadline arrives.

In Dayton, 2,200 members of UAW Local 696 agreed to return to work today at the Delco Moraine plant of GM. The local and Delco officials had settled local disputes Sunday but workers still walked out Monday. They decided to end the strike Wednesday on orders from UAW headquarters in Detroit.

She's Allergic To Boys; Skips Coed School

LOUGHTON, England (AP) — Jane Reeve, who breaks out in a rash when she mixes with boys, has won her battle to save her schoolgirl complexion.

She gaily skipped off to an all-girl school where there'll be no boys to bring out those ugly blemishes.

Jane, 11, is allergic to boys. Boys make her nervous. That brings on the rash.

Finishing at her girls' school, Jane was threatened with a rash of rashes when she was assigned to a coed high school in this town just outside London.

Her father, Leslie Reeve, protested to the local educational authorities. He told them about the rashes.

The authorities turned down his request that Jane be allowed to attend the local girls only school. That school, they said, is full.

Even a doctor's certificate, pointing out Jane's strange ailment, wouldn't budge them.

Until Tuesday, that is, when the authorities, after thinking things over, decided that in the interests of her health Jane should go to a girls' school.

An education official said: "It is felt that, in view of Jane's extreme nervousness, there is justification for her to be allowed to attend a single-sex school."

He said a place had been found at a girls' school a few miles out of Loughton.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives will face multiple choices of meats among weekend specials this week at supermarkets and neighborhood stores.

With the beef supply plentiful, prices are attractive. For example, sirloin steak is down 10 cents a pound from last week in the New York metropolitan area and down 26 cents in Detroit.

Fish specials include smelts, swordfish, perch, whiting and cod.

Best buys among vegetables are beans, cabbage, carrots, Chinese cabbage, eggplant, yellow globe onions, peppers, Eastern potatoes, yellow squash, tomatoes, turnips, rutabaga from Canada and water-cress.

Mothers Protest School Bus Curb

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Seven Willoughby mothers plan to continue escorting their children en masse to and from school across a railroad crossing in protest of a cut in school bus service.

They started the procession Tuesday, saying they feared for their children's safety. They said the daily escorts would last until the Willoughby-Esatake School Board restored the buses.

Some 46 children who live across the tracks from the grade school in Willoughby were affected by the bus cuts. Many parents drove their children to and from school.

A spokesman for the schools said the discontinued bus service was part of an overall cut because of enrollment increases. He noted the area was within a mile of the school.

Soviet Fallout Blows Back on Red Territory

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is possible that some fallout from the two latest Soviet nuclear weapons tests—the ones involving big H-bomb type devices—has blown back over Soviet populated areas like Leningrad and possibly even Moscow, Weather Bureau scientists said today.

Dr. Lester Machta and some of his associates told a reporter that world weather charts show that a "low pressure area" prevailed in the atmosphere above Novaya Zemlya, the big Soviet island in the arctic region, at the time the two latest Soviet shots were fired from that point.

And, unless he shots were detonated at very high altitudes, Machta said, this would mean that radioactivity debris at lower levels could have been blown over Soviet territory instead of heading generally eastward and away.

As to the United States, the Public Health Service said today its fallout detection station in Phoenix, Ariz., has reported an "abrupt increase" in atmospheric radiation.

But the service said the increase is "not considered significant from a health standpoint." Furthermore, it added, the rise may be due to factors other than fallout.

She's Allergic To Boys; Skips Coed School

LOUGHTON, England (AP) — Jane Reeve, who breaks out in a rash when she mixes with boys, has won her battle to save her schoolgirl complexion.

She gaily skipped off to an all-girl school where there'll be no boys to bring out those ugly blemishes.

Jane, 11, is allergic to boys. Boys make her nervous. That brings on the rash.

Finishing at her girls' school, Jane was threatened with a rash of rashes when she was assigned to a coed high school in this town just outside London.

Her father, Leslie Reeve, protested to the local educational authorities. He told them about the rashes.

The authorities turned down his request that Jane be allowed to attend the local girls only school. That school, they said, is full.

Even a doctor's certificate, pointing out Jane's strange ailment, wouldn't budge them.

Until Tuesday, that is, when the authorities, after thinking things over, decided that in the interests of her health Jane should go to a girls' school.

An education official said: "It is felt that, in view of Jane's extreme nervousness, there is justification for her to be allowed to attend a single-sex school."

He said a place had been found at a girls' school a few miles out of Loughton.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives will face multiple choices of meats among weekend specials this week at supermarkets and neighborhood stores.

With the beef supply plentiful, prices are attractive. For example, sirloin steak is down 10 cents a pound from last week in the New York metropolitan area and down 26 cents in Detroit.

Featured beef cuts include sirloin and porterhouse steaks and rib and round roasts. Also on the bargain list are ground and stewing beef.

Hams and butts are the main pork offerings. Frying legs, chops and roast chickens are widely offered.

Lamb legs, chops and combinations are featured in the Eastern and Western sections of the country.

Fish specials include smelts, swordfish, perch, whiting and cod.

Best buys among vegetables are beans, cabbage, carrots, Chinese cabbage, eggplant, yellow globe onions, peppers, Eastern potatoes, yellow squash, tomatoes, turnips, rutabaga from Canada and water-cress.

Listed as good buys are broccoli, celery, corn, cucumbers, Big Boston and Romaine lettuce, okra, Western Spanish onions, Western russet potatoes, radishes, green Italian squash and sweet potatoes.

Best buys in the fruit market are honeydew melons, grapes, pears, lemons, Western bartlett pears and small California oranges.

Apples, Florida avocados, limes, peaches, cantaloupes and Persian melons are good buys.

Mothers Protest School Bus Curb

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Seven Willoughby mothers plan to continue escorting their children en masse to and from school across a railroad crossing in protest of a cut in school bus service.

They started the procession Tuesday, saying they feared for their children's safety. They said the daily escorts would last until the Willoughby - Esatlake School Board restored the buses.

Some 46 children who live across the tracks from the grade school in Willoughby were affected by the bus cuts. Many parents drove their children to and from school.

A spokesman for the schools said the discontinued bus service was part of an overall cut because of enrollment increases. He noted the area was within a mile of the school.

Soviet Fallout Blows Back on Red Territory

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is possible that some fallout from the two latest Soviet nuclear weapons tests—the ones involving big H-bomb type devices—has blown back over Soviet populated areas like Leningrad and possibly even Moscow, Weather Bureau scientists said today.

Dr. Lester Machta and some of his associates told a reporter that world weather charts show that a "low pressure area" prevailed in the atmosphere above Novaya Zemlya, the big Soviet island in the arctic region, at the time the two latest Soviet shots were fired from that point.

And, unless he shots were detonated at very high altitudes, Machta said, this would mean that radioactivity debris at lower levels could have been blown over Soviet territory instead of heading generally eastward and away.

As to the United States, the Public Health Service said today its fallout detection station in Phoenix, Ariz., has reported an "abrupt increase" in atmospheric radiation.

But the service said the increase is "not considered significant from a health standpoint." Furthermore, it added, the rise may be due to factors other than fallout.

What's What in Swat?

Today's relative graybeards can remember back in 1927 when the late Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs, a record being hotly pursued this year by Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle — 34 years later. Old-timers will recall also that the Babe was referred to as "the Sultan of Swat". This fact was mentioned a few weeks ago in Time magazine.

Now Time publishes an interesting letter from a reader: "Being a citizen of Swat, the term Sultan of Swat has greatly aroused my interest. Our ruler is called the Wali of Swat. I hope you would let me know the idea behind the term you have used. . . ." The letter was signed by Mahmood Khan of Swat, West Pakistan.

Sure enough a respected authority, the Columbia Gazetteer of the World, lists Swat as a very mountainous princely state whose present ruler, the Wali, has installed a telephone system linking his leading villages so that he can confer with his headmen every morning.

In a reply to Mahmood Khan, Time notes that the home run king also was described as the "Caliph of Clout" — a much safer nickname because the Gazetteer recalls no place, princely or otherwise, called Clout. Nearest approach is Clough, a village in the county of Antrim, Northern Ireland, where there is little chance of finding a caliph and where nobody cares much more about baseball than people do in Swat.

Which raises the point whether it's right to refer to the world series?

Wives Can Be Pests on Phone

NEW YORK (AP)—At one time or another every husband has told his wife sternly:

"Now, don't phone me any more at the office. I'm being paid to work there, remember, not to waste company time listening to personal calls."

But it really doesn't do much good, does it?

A business firm may even formally ban during office hours all personal calls except those of an emergency nature. That doesn't do much good either.

To a wife any message she decides she wants to communicate to her husband is always of an emergency nature. And, by heaven and Alexander Graham Bell, she intends to get that message through.

If all the hours spent by husbands listening to their wives on company time could be put to constructive use, well—we'd have a missile on the moon by this weekend.

Wives who phone their husband on the job fall into several classes.

Every office switchboard operator is familiar with these types:

Barometric Bertha — She confuses her husband with the U.S. Weather Bureau. "I may go up-town later," she phones. "Tell me what it's like out—hot or cold? Do you think it will rain? What about the humidity?"

Five-alarm Flora—To her every thing that happens at home is a disaster. Then she clears all wires to inform hubby in a voice of doom: "I just burned my finger again." or, "Guess what happened—the dishwasher just blew a gasket."

Melancholy Mabel—"Gee, honey," she whimpers into the mouthpiece. "I get so lonely and blue sitting here in this empty house all by myself. You've got the fun and excitement of your office. But what have I got? Nothing."

Maternal Matilda—"Little Bertram has learned to speak," she crows proudly. "Listen, and I'll put him on." After holding the phone to his ear for half an hour, the husband hears a faint "Gub! Little Bertram has spoken!"

Authoritative Agnes—She's the command type, and here are a few of her crisp orders of the day: "Remember to pick up my glasses during your lunch hour. Here's a list of what I want you to get at the store on the way home. No, they're not for tonight. I've decided you're taking me out tonight. So don't forget to get a shoe shine!" etc.

There they are—just a few typical live-wire corporation wives. Because of them a husband's office is not just an office. It is his home away from home, always reachable by telephone.

But don't call us, ladies, we'll call you!

By Hal Boyle

What Is Khrushchev Proving?

The question must arise in the minds of Russians as well as Americans and others: what does Khrushchev think that he is proving? He blows off bombs; we can blow off bombs. What has been accomplished? What difference does it really make?

The guess is probably that Khrushchev needs another meeting with President Kennedy. He needs it not to solve any world problems, but to establish that Kennedy will come to him to plead with him not to explode more bombs. He needs that to strengthen his own position in the Communist world, particularly vis-à-vis Red China which desires war — a war against the United States to be fought not by Red China but by Soviet Russia.

Why should President Kennedy meet with Khrushchev? He met with him at Vienna and he was utterly unsatisfactory. Since the Vienna meeting, Khrushchev has gone out of his way to weaken Kennedy's position in the world and even in the United States. What advantage could there possibly be for Kennedy or for the United States if Kennedy accepted the advice of the so-called neutral nations and he met with Khrushchev?

There would not be a single advantage. Kennedy would come out of such a meeting much weaker than when he went into it. The United States would be in a weaker position than it is today. Why do we give in? Why are we the ones to make the concessions? How many more concessions can we afford to make?

President Kennedy has organized his foreign relations staff so that there must be a conflict of view. Already it is evident that the Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the Under Secretary, Chester Bowles do not always agree. Such disagreements should not exist.

The responsibility for the formulation of the foreign policy rests with the President of the United States; the responsibility for the conduct of the foreign policy rests with the Secretary of State. When there are half a dozen or so personalities, of considerable public appeal, functioning as advisers to the President, some of them travelling about the world, discussing serious problems with various heads of state, there is the probability of confusion.

How can a President protect himself from his associates when he extends to them authority for which only he is responsible?

It is obviously not necessary for Khrushchev to fire bombs after bombs to raise his stock. This is being done to frighten the United States, Great Britain and France. What is there to fear? If Khrushchev wants to make war, then we shall have to fight it out and large numbers of us and of them will be killed.

If he thinks that by frightening

us, we shall concede whatever he wants us to concede, then all we need to do is to make no concessions. If he believes that the so-called neutrals will become his satellites because he fires more bombs than we do, then when the time comes, the neutrals may discover that we can blow one of them up to prove that anyone can blow anyone up.

Khrushchev's error is that he assumes that we are a demoralized, degenerate people, who are so wedded to luxurious living that we would rather be Red than dead. But suppose it is just the opposite? Suppose it is established that we would really prefer to be dead than Red? Americans are now having such stickers printed with their glue onto the bumpers of their automobiles.

The Kaiser, Hitler, the Japanese and others have made that mistake about Americans. We are not readily frightened. And whereas just before a war, we seem to be a nation of pacifists, fearing shot and shell, the day the fight starts, the entire nation becomes mobilized and submits to whatever hardships are necessary. If Khrushchev wants to test that, all he needs to do is to try it.

From an historic point of view, it would be sound for the Russians to pursue a course directly opposite to what they are doing. Their immediate necessity is peace. It is true that the Chinese Communists are driving them to war, but that is to the advantage of the Chinese not the Russians. Therefore Khrushchev would be smart if he depended upon the United States, Great Britain, France and West Germany to help him consolidate his own country. He will not succeed in doing this by scaring anybody.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Is it safe to travel by plane if you have heart trouble, clogged sinuses or are an expectant mother whose baby is almost due?

As you climb into the clouds the air thins and the barometer falls. You breathe harder, but still can't inhale your usual quota of oxygen.

Actually, air pressure falls only slightly inside large pressurized planes. You won't notice this change and the slight oxygen lack when you're well. But if you have heart trouble this missing oxygen may trigger serious complications.

If you can walk 100 yards and climb a flight of stairs comfortably without losing your breath, you can probably fly safely in a pressurized plane.

Tuberculosis, emphysema and similar ailments often trap air inside your chest. As cabin pressure falls, this trapped air expands your lungs like a jet engine with a clogged exhaust.

Stopped-up sinuses often open up soon after take-off. But rising pressure can bring on severe sinus pain when you land.

Chew, swallow and blow your nose — pinching both nostrils closed — to prevent earaches as the plane comes down.

Weak anemic blood may not be able to deliver enough oxygen when the air thins. A preflight transfusion can thicken this watery blood.

High altitude worries can irritate any old ulcer that's still acting up. Don't fly if you think your internal pressures may explode in mid-air!

Clear up all doubts. Keep both feet on the ground until your doctor clears you for take-off. He may suggest a sedative to calm flight-time qualms.

For a smooth flight, take a snort jet that climbs above bad weather. Sit up towards the wing.

Many airlines won't carry passengers less than 10 days old or expectant mothers in their last month. Other airlines merely want a doctor's guarantee that the stork isn't scheduled to arrive until 72 hours after the plane!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The statistical side of the recession has been pretty well erased. And today there is a bit more than just hope that the human side is on the mend.

Many are returning to old jobs or finding new ones. And if all goes well, the number of unemployed may drop below the four million mark a month from now.

For many Americans, kicking the unemployment problem would seem more important than getting a man on the moon.

The "ifs" in the case are troublesome ones. And a total of jobless just under four million still isn't anything to brag about. But it's better than the figures of recent months that have counted 7 per cent of the labor force as looking for work in vain.

The hope for the better than seasonal drop in unemployment is based on expectations that industry is now ready for a big step upward. It already is pretty much back to where it was before the 1960 recession.

Economists at the Northern Trust Co., Chicago, note: "In the recovery to date, however, it would appear that more than half is the result of a turn from liquidation to moderate accumulation of business inventories and to increased federal spending, as well as the stimulus of large orders for military goods."

The "ifs" that cloud the prediction for increased employment include what the Chicago economists call the "more volatile sectors of economic activity including automobiles and other durable consumer goods, residential building and business investment in new plant and equipment." And they note that "the expectation is widespread that further gains in these sectors are in prospect." They warn that this is yet to be proved.

A major basis for expecting an employment pickup is the belief that the auto industry, when its labor difficulties are settled, can head for big production. If the public buys the 1962 models as Detroit hopes, the boost to the economy would be considerable. Steel has owed most of its output recovery so far to other customers, but counts heavily on auto makers' orders coming in greater volume soon.

Another big "if" is consumer buying intentions. These are expected to firm up fast if the economy takes on the aspect of even a mild boom. Business spending, also coasting now, could pick up just as rapidly as sentiment improves.

All of this is giving the job outlook a brighter aspect. And that is why the Labor Department thinks there's a fair chance the jobless total will drop below the four million mark in October. It was above five million in June and July.

What's What in Swat?

Today's relative greybeards can remember back in 1927 when the late Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs, a record being hotly pursued this year by Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle — 34 years later. Old timers will recall also that the Babe was referred to as "the Sultan of Swat". This fact was mentioned a few weeks ago in Time magazine.

Now Time publishes an interesting letter from a reader: "Being a citizen of Swat, the term Sultan of Swat has greatly aroused my interest. Our ruler is called the Wali of Swat. I hope you would let me know the idea behind the term you have used. . . ." The letter was signed by Mahmood Khan of Swat, West Pakistan.

Sure enough a respected authority, the Columbia Gazetteer of the World, lists Swat as a very mountainous princely state whose present ruler, the Wali, has installed a telephone system linking his leading villages so that he can confer with his headmen every morning.

In a reply to Mahmood Khan, Time notes that the home run king also was described as the "Caliph of Clout" — a much safer nickname because the Gazetteer recalls no place, princely or otherwise, called Clout. Nearest approach is Clough, a village in the county of Antrim, Northern Ireland, where there is little chance of finding a caliph and where nobody cares much more about baseball than people do in Swat.

Which raises the point whether it's right to refer to the world series?

Wives Can Be Pests on Phone

NEW YORK (AP)—At one time or another every husband has told his wife sternly:

"Now, don't phone me any more at the office. I'm being paid to work there, remember, not to waste company time listening to personal calls."

But it really doesn't do much good, does it?

A business firm may even formally ban during office hours all personal calls except those of an emergency nature. That doesn't do much good either.

To a wife any message she decides she wants to communicate to her husband is always of an emergency nature. And, by heaven and Alexander Graham Bell, she intends to get that message through.

If all the hours spent by husbands listening to their wives on company time could be put to constructive use, well—we'd have a missile on the moon by this weekend.

Wives who phone their husband on the job fall into several classes. Every office switchboard operator is familiar with these types:

Barometric Bertha — She confuses her husband with the U.S. Weather Bureau. "I may go up-town later," she phones. "Tell me what it's like out—hot or cold? Do you think it will rain? What about the humidity?"

Five-alarm Flora — To her everything that happens at home is a disaster. Then she clears all wires to inform hubby in a voice of doom: "I just burned my finger again," or, "Guess what happened — the dishwasher just blew a gasket."

Melancholy Mabel — "Gee, honey," she whimpers into the mouthpiece. "I get so lonely and blue sitting here in this empty house all by myself. You've got the fun and excitement of your office. But what have I got? Nothing."

Maternal Matilda — "Little Bertram has learned to speak," she crows proudly. "Listen, and I'll put him on." After holding the phone to his ear for half an hour, the husband hears a faint "Gub". Little Bertram has spoken!

Authoritative Agnes — She's the command type, and here are a few of her crisp orders of the day: "Remember to pick up my glasses during your lunch hour. Here's a list of what I want you to get at the store on the way home. No, they're not for tonight. I've decided you're taking me out tonight. So don't forget to get a shoe shine!" etc.

There they are—just a few typical live-wire corporation wives. Because of them a husband's office is not just an office. It is his home away from home, always reachable by telephone.

But don't call us, ladies, we'll call you!

What Is Khrushchev Proving?

The question must arise in the minds of Russians as well as Americans and others: what does Khrushchev think that he is proving? He blows off bombs; he can blow off bombs. What has been accomplished? What difference does it really make?

The guess is probably that Khrushchev needs another meeting with President Kennedy. He needs it not to solve any world problems, but to establish that Kennedy will come to him to plead with him not to explode more bombs. He needs that to strengthen his own position in the Communist world, particularly vis-à-vis Red China which desires war — a war against the United States to be fought not by Red China but by Soviet Russia.

Why should President Kennedy meet with Khrushchev? He met with him at Vienna and it was utterly unsatisfactory. Since the Vienna meeting, Khrushchev has gone out of his way to weaken Kennedy's position in the world and even in the United States. What advantage could there possibly be for Kennedy or for the United States if Kennedy accepted the advice of the so-called neutral nations and he met with Khrushchev?

There would not be a single advantage. Kennedy would come out of such a meeting much weaker than when he went into it. The United States would be in a weaker position than it is today. Why do we give in? Why are we the ones to make the concessions? How many more concessions can we afford to make?

President Kennedy has organized his foreign relations staff so that there must be a conflict of view. Already it is evident that the Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the Under Secretary, Chester Bowles do not always agree. Such disagreements should not exist.

The responsibility for the formulation of the foreign policy rests with the President of the United States; the responsibility for the conduct of the foreign policy rests with the Secretary of State. When there are half a dozen or so personalities, of considerable public appeal, functioning as advisers to the President, some of them travelling about the world, discussing serious problems with various heads of state, there is the probability of confusion.

How can a President protect himself from his associates when he extends to them authority for which only he is responsible?

It is obviously not necessary for Khrushchev to fire bomb after bomb to raise his stock. This is being done to frighten the United States, Great Britain and France. What is there to fear? If Khrushchev wants to make war, then we shall have to fight it out and large numbers of us and of them will be killed.

If he thinks that by frightening

By George Sokolsky

us, we shall concede whatever he wants us to concede, then all we need to do is to make no concessions. If he believes that the so-called neutrals will become his satellites because he fires more bombs than we do, then when the time comes, the neutrals may discover that we can blow one of them up to prove that anyone can blow anyone up.

Khrushchev's error is that he assumes that we are a demoralized, degenerate people, who are so wedded to luxurious living that we would rather be Red than dead. But suppose it is just the opposite? Suppose it is established that we would really prefer to be dead than Red? Americans are now having such stickers printed which they glue onto the bumpers of their automobiles.

The Kaiser, Hitler, the Japanese and others have made that mistake about Americans. We are not readily frightened. And whereas just before a war, we seem to be a nation of pacifists, fearing shot and shell, the day the fight starts, the entire nation becomes mobilized and submits to whatever hardships are necessary. If Khrushchev wants to test that, all he needs to do is to try it.

From an historic point of view, it would be sound for the Russians to pursue a course directly opposite to what they are doing. Their immediate necessity is peace. It is true that the Chinese Communists are driving them to war, but that is to the advantage of the Chinese not the Russians. Therefore Khrushchev would be smart if he depended upon the United States and Great Britain, France and West Germany to help him consolidate his own country. He will not succeed in doing this by scaring anyone.

Scotts of Northridge Road
Typical Ardent Gardeners

HORTICULTURAL TEAM — Mr. and Mrs. James Scott are a garden inspired couple that has teamed up to create one of Circleville's outstanding gardens. They'll try anything from a crown-of-thorns — sent by a Texas friend — to strawberries, roses and walnuts.

Composing one of the best two-member horticulture teams in the locality are Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, 341 Northridge Road. This couple loves gardening, and their garden shows it.

The grounds surrounding the house include an enormous vegetable garden, a back picnic area and an extensive lawn. Combined, they are a full acre. The lawn with its trees and shrub plantings makes a beautiful setting for the attractive low modern brick house.

The Scotts are their own gardeners and work like Turks during their leisure time. Mrs. Scott is a third grade teacher at Atwater School and James is an employee at Container Corporation.

Even the grass mowing is a chore they do not relegate to others.

LUCILLE SCOTT says, "We're just too particular to trust the grass mowing to other people." Like all garden - crazy people they seem to find the work great fun.

The Scott trees were planted in 1950 and have grown amazingly. There are maples, including a Crimson King, weeping willows, tulip, birch, pear, plum, apple and cherry. They have one crabapple tree that has five distinctly different colored blossoms at bloom time.

They have a walnut tree that has grown from a walnut that came, I believe, from Indiana, the Scott's mother state.

They have evergreens, junipers, white pines and cedars sent by a cousin.

People are always giving them plants of one kind or another. The row of red dahlias planted in the vegetable garden was the gift of some kinfolks. The crown - of-thorns which summers near the house was sent from Texas by an old army buddy of James.

Incidentally, the crown - of-thorns is taken to the schoolhouse each winter for the third graders

Starbeau Wins
Popularity Poll

Kingwood Center held a popularity poll for iris this spring. Visitors at the gardens were allowed one vote only.

Starbeau, a medium blue, edged out the others, many of which had been given several awards. What's more Starbeau is not an expensive iris. A rhizome may be purchased for a dollar. Starbeau won over a great many iris in the $5 to $10 bracket.

Sierra Skies, a light blue, came in second while Tranquility a white won third place.

DEEP BLACK, a black violet, was fourth in popularity and Eleanor's Pride, a pale blue, was fifth.

Others were Sweet Tomorrow, lilac rose, sixth; South Pacific, pale blue, seventh; Heartbeat, pink, eighth; Picture Bouquet, pale orange pink, ninth; Lady Elsie, violet and purple, tenth;

Pink Serenity, pale orange pink, eleventh; Waxing Moon, light yellow, twelfth; Blue Shimmer, white and blue, thirteenth; Valley Dawn, pale orange pink, fourteenth and Commodore, light blue, fifteenth.

Strangely enough Blue Sapphire, an iris that has won many distinguished awards came in thirty-third.

In 1954 Blue Sapphire won honorable mention, the first award for an introduced iris.

In 1956 Blue Sapphire was given the Award of Merit. Only 12 iris receive this award in a given year. And an iris must first have won an honorable mention award.

In 1958 the coveted Dykes Metal was given Blue Sapphire.

to enjoy, along with several other plants.

MRS. SCOTT says the youngsters take turns watering and caring for the plants.

Along the property boundaries are many fine shrubs. These provide spring color along with the bulbs. Later the annuals and the floribunda roses near the house give color.

And the Scotts are not too busy for annuals. Many years they plant rows of bright flowers in their vegetable garden. They are well aware of the effect massed annuals like petunias can give.

The garden, which is separated by a barberry hedge, also has rows of glads which James Scott leaves out all winter. He says there is no apparent damage to the wintered - over glads and that he does not even mulch them.

When I visited the Scotts, their double gloriosa daisy was in bloom and proved to be a striking flower. Their clematis also had some lingering blossoms when I was there. This is planted near the breezeway.

A couple of bird baths provide water for the birds who seem to appreciate this luxury by coming in great numbers.

THE SCOTTS have a famous vegetable patch. Their strawberry crop is always excellent. They have asparagus. The red lettuce added beauty to the garden when I was there in late July. They had summer squash and big Bermuda onions.

Beside their more ordinary vegetables, they were growing horticultural b e a n s. These beans are speckled and when simmered with a piece of bacon are so fine they top the best of regular string beans, says Mrs. Scott.

Yes, the Scotts make one of the best horticultural teams in the country. Their garden is excellent, their flowers lovely and well exhibited. And in time their produce will even include fruit and nuts. Best of all — it's not work — it's play for the Scotts.

There is no entry fee. Entries will be closed at noon.

IN DIVISION A of the Artistic Arrangements Section there are two classes for children only. The first designates an arrangement using any kind of container. Class 2 is "Most Original Arrangement."

In Division B, open to men only, the first class is entitled "As You Like It." In this class you may arrange anything that appeals. The other class is an arrangement for a man's desk.

Sickly Lawns
Need Checking
In September

"Kingwood Center Notes" for August remind the gardener that September is the time to get after a sickly lawn.

If there are bare spots seed them. Chop the bare surface with a spade or lawn edger.

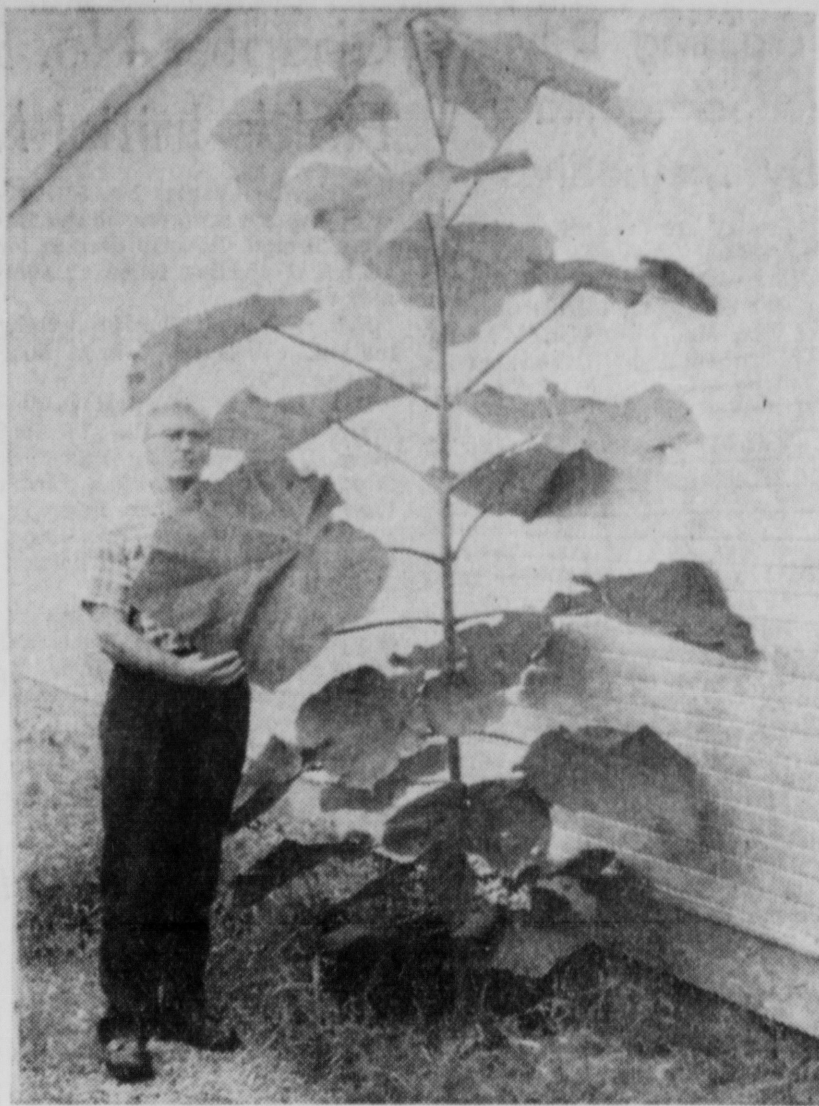

Use Kentucky blue grass if the spots are in full sun. If the lawn is shady mix red fescue with the bluegrass seed.

If it's crabgrass that's worrying you, use a post emergence crab grass killer.

IF CRABGRASS has not actually "taken over" fertilize your lawn, mow the grass high so you will have a shade producing turf (crabgrass likes the sun).

Now if your lawn troubles are not "spotty" but the whole thing is an eyesore, prepare your soil more deeply, level, seed and water.

Lots of trouble, but you'll be glad you did it.

M. L. DELONG AND PAULOWNIA TREE — This tree has caused a horticulture flurry along W. Main St. this season. It is growing at the rate of two inches per day. The leaves measure 28 inches across. There are few Paulownia trees in this area. Later it will have 12 inch clusters of lilac florets shaped like foxgloves.

Heart Shaped Leaves
Measure 28 Inches;
Tree Growing Fast

M. L. DeLong, 662 E. Mound St., noticed a big leafed plant growing near his tailor shop close against the Firestone building this spring.

It had odd heart shaped leaves. Once it got started it really grew fast, according to DeLong. He figures it's growing at the rate of two inches a day now. At the last measurement it was 10 feet and four inches high.

DeLong has promised it to Dr. Joe Goeller for his greenhouse. Dr. Goeller asked Floyd Bartley to go around and identify the tree.

Incidentally, the tree has no branches. It is actually just a stalk with enormous leaves. And Jack's legendary beanstalk has nothing on this tree. Bartley has identified it as a seedling Paulownia tree.

THE PAULOWNIA TREE is an oriental import with lovely lilac clusters of bloom in the spring. It was named for a Russian princess, Anne Paulowna, and is sometimes known as the empress tree.

The Paulownia tree belongs to the snaphragmaceae or Scrophulariaceae. It will grow to a height of 50 feet. It is a good lawn tree. An Oriental import, it has now escaped from gardens and may be found growing in the eastern states as far north as New York.

It is rather rare in Circleville. There is one in Evelyn Hafey's

Mrs. Hoover
Receives Gift

The more we know of Mrs. Clyde Hoover on Route 23, the more we want to paraphrase the old poem, "I'll build a house by the side of the Road, And Be a friend to gardeners".

Gardeners just cannot resist stopping to chat with Mrs. Hoover.

And Mrs. Hoover now includes among her gardening friends a certain Mrs. L. G. Merrill of Greenville, Miss., who passes several times a year on her way to visit a daughter in Columbus.

On her last visit, Mrs. Merrill brought along a candelabra plant from Texas for Mrs. Hoover. It's botanical name is Cassia Alata.

AND Mrs. Merrill says that in Greenville it is regarded as nothing short of sensational when it blooms. The flowers look like yellow candles standing at the end of each branch.

It winter - kills, so Mrs. Hoover will have to take her's inside before frost. But she has planted it in a pot for this reason. It is due to bloom in October.

And wouldn't it be fine if Mrs. Hoover could exhibit it at Pumpkin Show in the glory of its yellow blossoms.

Garden Gossip

You'll never make me believe that four leaf clover luck is just superstition. Three seconds before our water pageant began, Bobby Stant brought me a couple that he had found. And the pageant performers gave a dandy show.

This we did not believe was possible considering an actor or two had never practiced with others in the cast.

Paul Barnes, who was to take the part of a young Martian that had spent the season at a summer camp, didn't show up until the day of the pageant. Skipper Hanson, pageant director, told me not to worry. Now I am sorry I did.

Between football practice for Bobby Stant and swimming for all three Stant boys, their towels were missing by Labor Day. Helen Stant was obliged to dig up a baby blanket the last time the family came swimming.

BOBBY STANT helped with the swimming classes this summer—that is when he wasn't in Washington D. C. or some such place having a good time.

The George Grubbs have a quince tree at the side of their W. Water St. home. Quince are so seldom seen now. Quince jelly is still a rare delicacy. And I have yet to see quinces on the market.

One of my favorite times is that week in August when the magic lilies are in bloom. Almost every garden has a clump of them. They seldom last more than five days. There are now red and yellow magic ones on the market.

Mrs. Ed Fetherolf had wonderful magic lilies this year. She thought they were bigger than usual.

Mrs. Judson Bougher has a magic lily that leafs out nicely each year, but fails to bloom. Florence Fetherolf thought that perhaps it needed water except that rain has been very plentiful this year.

We are wondering if it can be too deeply planted. I left some bulbs on top of the ground one year and they bloomed nicely.

GET YOUR daffodils ordered and planted before Pumpkin Show takes over your life and time. Tulips can wait, but daffodils benefit by early planting.

However, it's better late than never with daffodils. Late planted daffs will survive and quite well.

We talked to Mrs. Reginald Blue of Frankfort, who has returned now from the hospital. She says her patio waterlilies which are planted in big old kettles are blooming. They are midget waterlilies. The white one has a blossom the size of a quarter. The others are quite a bit larger.

Mrs. Charles Mootz, Frankfort, is helping with the Frankfort Garden Club program this year. Mrs. Mootz will entertain in May when her iris are in bloom. She has given Mrs. Ella Hornbeck and myself an invitation to come.

Mrs. Mootz says that Mrs. Hornbeck gave her many of her most beautiful iris. Mrs. Mootz formerly lived here.

Eddie Kreisel, Logan Elm locality, is said to have won 30 ribbons with his fair exhibits. Eddie is 11-years-old I have been told.

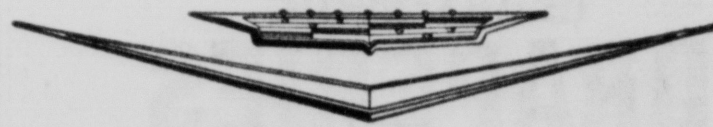

WE understand that Mrs. William Hinkle, Homewood Trailer Park, has a very lovely flower garden. Anybody know where Homewood Trailer Park is?

Last year when I saw Mrs. Frank Turner's strawflowers and heard what she had to say about them I determined to try them out, and it's quite true. They began to bloom when they were four inches high and have been blooming ever since. They thrive in heat and dryness. Actually nothing seems to bother them. The Turners live on Watt St.

Scotts of Northridge Road Typical Ardent Gardeners

HORTICULTURAL TEAM — Mr. and Mrs. James Scott are a garden inspired couple that has teamed up to create one of Circleville's outstanding gardens. They'll try anything from a crown-of-thorns — sent by a Texas friend — to strawberries, roses and walnuts.

Composing one of the best two-member horticulture teams in the locality are Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, 341 Northridge Road. This couple loves gardening, and their garden shows it.

The grounds surrounding the house include an enormous vegetable garden, a back picnic area and an extensive lawn. Combined, they are a full acre. The lawn with its trees and shrub plantings makes a beautiful setting for the attractive low modern brick house.

The Scotts are their own gardeners and work like Turks during their leisure time. Mrs. Scott is a third grade teacher at Atwater School and James is an employee at Container Corporation.

Even the grass mowing is a chore they do not relegate to others.

LUCILLE SCOTT says, "We're just too particular to trust the grass mowing to other people." Like all garden - crazy people they seem to find the work great fun.

The Scott trees were planted in 1950 and have grown amazingly. There are maples, including a Crimson King, weeping willows, tulip, birch, pear, plum, apple and cherry. They have one crabapple tree that has five distinctly different colored blossoms at bloom time.

They have a walnut tree that has grown from a walnut that came, I believe, from Indiana, the Scott's mother state.

They have evergreens, junipers, white pines and cedars sent by a cousin.

People are always giving them plants of one kind or another. The row of red dahlias planted in the vegetable garden was the gift of

Starbeau Wins Popularity Poll

Kingwood Center held a popularity poll for iris this spring. Visitors at the gardens were allowed one vote only.

Starbeau, a medium blue, edged out the others, many of which had been given several awards. What's more Starbeau is not an expensive iris. A rhizome may be purchased for a dollar. Starbeau won over a great many iris in the $5 to $10 bracket.

Sierra Skies, a light blue, came in second while Tranquility a white won third place.

DEEP BLACK, a black violet, was fourth in popularity and Eleanor's Pride, a pale blue, was fifth.

Others were Sweet Tomorrow, lilac rose, sixth; South Pacific, pale blue, seventh; Heartbeat, pink, eighth; Picture Bouquet, pale orange pink, ninth; Lady Elsie, violet and purple, tenth;

Pink Serenity, pale orange pink, eleventh; Waxing Moon, light yellow, twelfth; Blue Shimmer, white and blue, thirteenth; Valley Dawn, pale orange pink, fourteenth and Commodore, light blue, fifteenth.

Strangely enough Blue Sapphire, an iris that has won many distinguished awards came in thirty-third.

In 1954 Blue Sapphire won honorable mention, the first award for an introduced iris.

In 1956 Blue Sapphire was given the Award of Merit. Only 12 iris receive this award in a given year. And an iris must first have won an honorable mention award.

Sunday has been set as the date for Officers' Training Day for officers of local societies of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of The Methodist Church in the Chillicothe District. The session will be 3 to 5 p. m. at the First Methodist Church, Lancaster.

This has been planned especially for employed women or those who find it impossible to attend one of the combined Education Seminars and Officers' Training Days to be held September 28 at Central Ave. Methodist Church, Athens, and September 29 at Walnut St. Methodist Church, Chillicothe, from 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m.

The Fall District Conference which ministers and many laymen will be attending will be held at the same time in another part of the First Methodist Church in Lancaster.

The purpose of the Officers' Training Day is to give officers and secretaries of lines of work a clear understanding of their duties. It also provides suggestions for carrying out their work in order to strengthen the total program of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Arrangements for September 17 are being completed by Mrs. Ralph Henderly, Lancaster Group Leader, who will preside at the meeting. In addition to the fifteen clinics, devotions will be given by Mrs. J. H. Sudlow, Logan. A skit entitled, "That We May Be One," will be presented by Mrs. Carlton H. Shank and Mrs. Harry Hill, both of Lancaster.

Three Circleville women are scheduled to take part in the clinics. They are Mrs. Herbert Southward, Children's Work; Mrs. Boyd Stout, Circle Leaders; and Mrs. W. E. Gibson, Local Church Activities.

My husband recently found out about this dead affair, and has threatened to call up the man's wife and tell her. The man is happily married and has a family. I am scared to death. Would you advise me to call the man and warn him so he won't be thunder-struck if my husband calls his wife? I hate to see his marriage ruined.

PAST DUG UP
DEAR PAST: Try hard to get your husband to realize the contemptible injustice of punishing an innocent wife and family. If you think your husband actually intends to call the wife, call the man and tip him off.

DEAR ABBY: Every time my boy friend and I are together he acts like his head is on a swivel. It's bad enough that he has to look at every pretty girl he sees, he even makes remarks to me about them. He will say, "Oh, boy, how would you like to be stacked like that girl?" I try to be a good sport, but this hurts me very much because I care a lot for this boy. I am 18 and he is 19 and he tells me he loves me, but when he acts like this, I wonder, What do you think?

DEAR BARBS: I think you can do better. You don't want to listen to that kind of talk the rest of your life, do you?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having a squabble over how long a woman can carry a baby. I say a woman can carry a baby six to eight weeks past due. My husband says that nine months is the limit and, if a baby is carried over nine months, there must be something wrong with the lady's figuring.

DON'T KNOW
DEAR DON'T: According to medical authorities, women have been known to carry babies ten months (and even longer) from the time of conception to birth.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARIE: Don't waste any more time on him. Tell him, "No rice—no dice."

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is for people getting ready to sigh with relief.

Both President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev said Wednesday in a vague way, their governments are ready to talk about Berlin. And maybe they will, after enough talking about talking to wear out a fishwife.

Perhaps there'll even be a summit conference, Berlin may be settled without shooting. Kennedy may visit Russia and get the grand treatment and the world may be so rosy it will look sunburned.

And if all that happens it will

Korean War Bonus Chief Quits Position

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Walter U. Bolton of Newark resigned today as Korean war bonus director in protest to further reduction in his staff. The commission recessed without taking action.

State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson, a member of the bonus commission, at the last meeting recommended that the number of commission employees be cut from four to two.

Bolton, who receives $8,500 a year, said he had not been consulted about the recommended cut.

Ferguson said the cut should be made because work of the commission in paying Korean Conflict bonuses has shrunk to virtually zero.

Bolton became director in May 1960 after Chester W. Goble, a deputy state auditor, resigned his $1-a-year post as director in protest over a payroll slash proposed by Ferguson. Ferguson said that cut reduced the payroll from $83,000 a year to $36,000 a year. The treasurer said his latest proposal would cut the payroll to $4,200 a year.

Farm Real Estate Debt Now over Half-Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's farm real estate debts amounted to $505,214,000 the first of this year, reports the Agriculture Department's economic research service. The Buckeye total was sixth among the states in a national total of $13.1 billion. That was a 6.5 per cent national increase in a year, and indications are that the debt is climbing again this year.

Rep. Wallace Lists New Laws To Be Effective Next Week

The second of three strong anti-gambling laws enacted by the 104th Ohio General Assembly goes into effect next week, September 17-23. State Representative Ed Wallace of Pickaway County said today.

It is the so-called "anti-bookie" law which increases the penalties for occupying or permitting to be occupied a place for recording track wagers on horse races. It also makes agents and managers of the owners of such places subject to the penalties. It becomes effective Monday.

The new law sets a maximum penalty of $500 and six months in jail for a first offense and $500 to $1000 fine and one to three years in prison for repeated offenses, Rep. Wallace pointed out.

Another law, setting similar increased penalties for "numbers" writing, passed by the 104th General Assembly, went into effect September 1. The third new anti-gambling law, fixing similar heavy penalties for betting on sports events will go into effect September 25.

Another new law passed by the 104th General Assembly, to be effective September 21, will prohibit the driving of an auto with only parking lights on in the period from one half hour after sunset to a half hour before sunrise.

Still another new law — this one is part of the assembly's traffic safety program — will become effective September 22, but not operative until next January 1.

This, Rep. Wallace explained, will require brackets so that owners may install safety belts on the front seats of all autos sold in Ohio after January 1.

The brackets must have a loop strength to support a load pull of at least $4,000 pounds on each belt. The new law also will require a similar load pull on all seat belts sold after that date.

Wallace recalled that traffic safety officials told committees of the legislature, when the bill was heard, that many lives can be saved in traffic accidents by the use of safety belts in autos.

Also among the 29 new laws that go into effect Monday, are those which will:

Set a one to three year prison sentence for two or more violations of the law prohibiting the obtaining of property or signatures on instruments by false pretense.

Make changes in the auto dealers' and salesmen's licensing law, including one removing a technicality concerning display of new models at auto shows and increase membership of the licensing board from 3 to 5.

Provide for creation of a county transit system by county commissioners.

Reduce from 15 to 10 years the time a county clerk must keep copies of motor vehicle title records.

Fix a $100 to $1,000 fine and 30 days in jail for soliciting legal business and fee splitting.

Require permanent markers in each plat of lots at time of initial survey.

Allow a new Ohio resident with a driver's license from other states, to drive in Ohio on that license until taking an examination to get an Ohio license.

Allow county commissioners to publish an annual report for county residents to show activities and progress of county departments.

Extend workmen's compensation coverage to unemployed apprentices engaged in training programs.

Tuesday: Authorize the Ohio Department of Agriculture to protect vineyards and greenhouses from harmful herbicides.

Provide for regulation of privately-owned sewage disposal system companies by the Public Utilities Commission.

Thursday: Establish judicial procedure by which a governmental authority may test the validity of a proposed bond issue and related levies before the bonds are issued.

Transfer regulation of private employment agencies from the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation to the Department of Commerce and create a five-member advisory council.

Allow county commissioners to grant leases and easements on unneeded county land to private utilities.

Extend to federal savings and loan associations in Ohio all privileges of state chartered building and loans, if not in conflict with federal laws or regulations.

Friday: Create three additional courts of appeals judgeships in the Eighth District in Cuyahoga County and a fourth one in the Tenth District in Franklin County, all to be elected in November, 1962.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is for people getting ready to sigh with relief.

Both President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev said Wednesday in a vague way, their governments are ready to talk about Berlin. And maybe they will, after enough talking about talking to wear out a fishwife.

Perhaps there'll even be a summit conference. Berlin may be settled without shooting. Kennedy may visit Russia and get the grand treatment and the world may be so rosy it will look sun-burned.

And if all that happens it will only be temporary.

Kennedy must have thought so himself, before he ever got into this present predicament, since he said on the day he took office that our problems will perhaps not be settled in our lifetime.

And if you have any doubts about it you should read the interview Khrushchev gave C. L. Sulzberger of the New York Times last week, particularly when Sulzberger asked his views on wars of liberation.

The Russian's answer was a masterpiece in the upside-down philosophy of communism which can justify beforehand any way the cat jumps, and afterward, too:

"We do not recognize that any country has a right to fight a war for the liberation of another country. The imperialists and colonialists alone fight wars under the false banner of liberating other peoples."

Does this mean the Russians would never get mixed up in a war of liberation? Oh, no. Khrushchev took care of that.

When people within a country fight for liberation Russian sympathies are with them and "we consider that they have the rights to count on the help of all freedom-loving people."

By this reasoning it would have been very wrong for the United States in 1956 to help the Hungarian rebels when they tried to throw off their Communist masters.

But by the same reasoning it was very right for the Russians to move into the supposedly independent Hungary and crush the rebels to preserve communism, which they did.

How could this be? Very simple. Russia explained at the time that the rebels weren't rebels fighting for liberation from communism but the reactionary stooges of the West which put them up to trying to overthrow their legitimate government.

So it followed it was wrong for the United States to help Cuban exiles in 1961 invade Cuba to try to overthrow pro-Russian Fidel Castro but it was very right for Russia in 1961 to help the Communist-led Laotian rebels try to overthrow their pro-Western government.

None of this might have any present significance if it were not that Khrushchev's explanation to Sulzberger justifies beforehand anything Russia may do in the future.

What it can do in the future is instigate Communist-led revolts from inside a country in Asia, the Middle East or elsewhere—and then in one way or another help the rebels on the grounds they were fighting for liberation.

In the years ahead it's unthinkable, knowing communism's self-proclaimed expansionist aims, it will not be fomenting revolt in which it can join, particularly in nearby countries linked with the West.

And this should be particularly true in the case of countries allowing their territory to be used as military bases of one kind or another which could be used in case of a war between the United States and Russia.

Iran, for example, looks like an excellent place for just such a Soviet effort. It's pro-Western, there is an enormous gap between the very rich and the very poor.

And in all fairness it's hard to believe the U.S. government would for a moment stop trying to overthrow, in one way or another, any government in this hemisphere which was Communist or pro-Communist.

A thousand years from now, some philosopher taking the long view may conclude that from an evolutionary standpoint all this conflict between East and West was the spice of life.

It's a good guess that for years to come this will be a very spicy planet, and even longer than that since in a thousand years this planet, or what's left of it, may be up to its neck in conflicts with other planets.

Rep. Wallace Lists New Laws To Be Effective Next Week

The second of three strong anti-gambling laws enacted by the 104th Ohio General Assembly goes into effect next week, September 17-23. State Representative Ed Wallace of Pickaway County said today.

It is the so-called "anti-bookie" law which increases the penalties for occupying or permitting to be occupied a place for recording track wagers on horse races. It also makes agents and managers of the owners of such places subject to the penalties. It becomes effective Monday.

The new law sets a maximum penalty of $500 and six months in jail for a first offense and $500 to $1000 fine and one to three years in prison for repeated offenses, Rep. Wallace pointed out.

Another law, setting similar increased penalties for "numbers" writing, passed by the 104th General Assembly, went into effect September 1. The third new anti-gambling law, fixing similar heavy penalties for betting on sports events will go into effect September 25.

Another new law passed by the 104th General Assembly, to be effective September 22, will prohibit the driving of an auto with only parking lights on in the period from one half hour after sunset to a half hour before sunrise.

Still another new law — this one is part of the assembly's traffic safety program — will become effective September 22, but not operative until next January 1.

This, Rep. Wallace explained, will require brackets so that owners may install safety belts on the front seats of all autos sold in Ohio after January 1.

The brackets must have a loop strength to support a load pull of at least $4,000 pounds on each belt. The new law also will require a similar load pull on all seat belts sold after that date.

Wallace recalled that traffic safety officials told committees of the legislature, when the bill was heard, that many lives can be saved in traffic accidents by the use of safety belts in autos.

Also among the 29 new laws that go into effect Monday, are those which will:

Set a one to three year prison sentence for two or more violations of the law prohibiting the obtaining of property or signatures on instruments by false pretense.

Make changes in the auto dealers' and salesmen's licensing law, including one removing a technicality concerning display of new models at auto shows and increase membership of the licensing board from 3 to 5.

Provide for creation of a county transit system by county commissioners.

Reduce from 15 to 10 years the time a county clerk must keep copies of motor vehicle title records.

Fix a $100 to $1,000 fine and 30 days in jail for soliciting legal business and fee splitting.

Require permanent markers in each plat of lots at time of initial survey.

Allow a new Ohio resident with a driver's license from other states, to drive in Ohio on that license until taking an examination to get an Ohio license.

Allow county commissioners to publish an annual report for county residents to show activities and progress of county departments.

Extend workmen's compensation coverage to unemployed apprentices engaged in training programs.

Tuesday: Authorize the Ohio Department of Agriculture to protect vineyards and greenhouses from harmful herbicides.

Provide for regulation of privately-owned sewage disposal system companies by the Public Utilities Commission.

Thursday: Establish judicial procedure by which a governmental authority may test the validity of a proposed bond issue and related levies before the bonds are issued.

Transfer regulation of private employment agencies from the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation to the Department of Commerce and create a five-member advisory council.

Allow county commissioners to grant leases and easements on unneeded county land to private utilities.

Extend to federal savings and loan associations in Ohio all privileges of state chartered building and loans, if not in conflict with federal laws or regulations.

Friday: Create three additional courts of appeals judgeships in the Eighth District in Cuyahoga County and a fourth one in the Tenth District in Franklin County, all to be elected in November, 1962.

Farm Real Estate Debt Now over Half-Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's farm real estate debts amounted to $505,214,000 the first of this year, reports the Agriculture Department's economic research service. The Buckeye total was sixth among the states in a national total of $13.1 billion. That was a 6.5 per cent national increase in a year, and indications are that the debt is climbing again this year.

LE Squad Ready for Battle

HERE THEY COME — Linemen brace to repel a simulated opponent as the Logan Elm Braves backfield unit executes a deft around-end sweep. A running attack is in the offing for the LEHS gridders when they travel to Plain City to open Jonathan Alder High School's football season.

Grid Fortunes May Hinge on Defense Work

By RON COFFMAN

Logan Elm football coach Keith Merrin's constant companion these days is a fact-packed book titled "Modern Defensive Football."

Written by one of the nation's top grid generals, the University of Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson, it may contain the key to many of the Braves 1961 problems — at least mentor Merrin hopes so.

"I'm following Wilkinson pretty closely on defense theory, even though I don't think his brand of offense would work for us," the second-year Logan Elm pilot explained.

Defense is the basic thing, though and Merrin's 35-man outfit is getting in plenty of defensive drills after porous play against The Plains at Mt. Sterling last Friday cost them a 14-6 decision. "They beat us by sweeping around end. We don't want to repeat that this week," the coach said.

TESTING THE Braves revamped defensive unit Friday night will be Jonathan Alder of Plain City. A squad with a heavy contingent of first-year players, Alder is reputed to favor a wide-open brand of football.

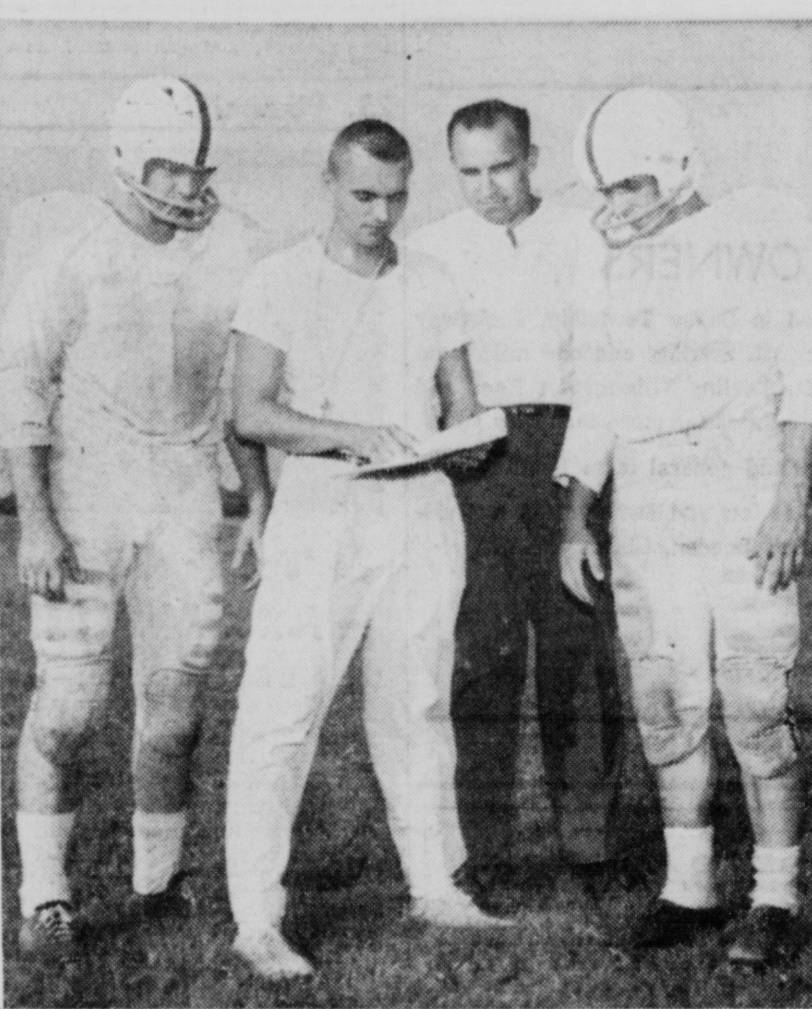

The contest, in Plain City, will be Alder's 1961 inaugural and they'll probably be out for a win by any possible method. Preliminary scouting reports indicate Logan Elm's opponent has just fair defense, passes frequently and possess average speed and depth.

Merrin, a Capital University graduate, displayed an exuberant confidence after his Wilkerson-influenced week of practice. "I think our defense is much improved and it looks as if our offense is ready to roll. The Plains' end runs ruined us. It appears we've overcome our weakness there," he stated.

Two defensive changes are on tap for the Braves lineup this week. Senior Lenny Hardman will move into the end spot while senior co-captain Roger Clarke has been nominated for a half-back assignment.

Offensively the only new face will be Don Hicks, a junior who takes over as right tackle, a slot vacated by shifts of other players. "I'm optimistic," Merrin stated. He was optimistic that assistant Dow West, a man noted for caution when talking football chances.

THE LOGAN Elm locker room rings with light jokes and spirited chatter, signs of a confident club. It's a far cry from the gloom hovering over the Braves encampment a few nights ago.

Touring Sportswriters Take Look at Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Skywriters, a touring group of Midwest football writers, arrived here today to view Coach Woody Hayes' 1961 Ohio State Buckeyes.

No heavy scrimmaging is expected today, but Hayes did run his charges through a two-hour scrimmage Wednesday—the first such workout the Bucks have had this fall.

Although the coach was pleased with 14 completed passes out of 25 thrown, no interceptions and no injuries, he said the team was not hitting hard enough.

Redlegs' Joey Jay Becomes First 20-Game Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joey Jay, 26-year-old Cincinnati Reds' right-hander discarded by Milwaukee after the 1960 season, became this year's first 20-game winner in the National League Wednesday night by beating his former Braves' teammates 4-0 with a four-hitter.

He also scored the game's only run in the fifth inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, with reliever Harvey Haddix pitching two hit ball over the final eight innings, beat second place Los

21,632 Fans Cheer as Jay Wins No. 20

CINCINNATI (AP) — Six-foot-four Joey Jay leaped into the air. His fellow Cincinnati Reds swarmed over him. And the crowd of 21,632 shouted.

Joey had become the first pitcher here to win 20 games in one season since 1947 with a 1-0 shut-out.

Not only did he turn back his former teammates, the Milwaukee Braves, for whom he has no particular love, but he scored the one run in the game which gave Cincinnati its fifth consecutive victory in its drive toward the National League pennant.

Joey allowed his former mates only four hits Wednesday night as he became the National League's first 20-game winner this year.

With his defeat of the Braves, he approached the record set in 1947 by Ewell Blackwell. That was 22 victories. And, according to Manager Fred Hutchinson, Jay was "a very fine pitcher last night."

For Joey it was just enough to win the game.

"I have been given the chance to work regularly under Hutch," he said after the game. "I told Hutch I had to work regularly and it has paid off. I threw 105 balls. I got tired in the eighth but I felt all right in the ninth."

As each batter went down in order in the final inning, the pressure on Jay seemed to increase.

He started the inning by going to first base to tag Ed Matthews. Next, he struck out Hank Aaron.

"When I got Aaron, I gave a big sigh of relief. Then when Joe Adcock went out it was a great relief to me."

Bruce and Duff Greene, guards on the University of North Carolina football team, are twins.

Brown Implement Co., 2,024, All scores without handicap at Circle D.

Angeles 8-2 and dropped the Dodgers 5½ games back of the league-leading Reds. Any combination of nine Cincinnati victories and/or Los Angeles defeats will give the Reds the NL flag.

San Francisco's Giants moved into a tie for third place with the Braves by defeating last-place Philadelphia 8-2. The Chicago St. Louis game was rained out.

Jay (20-9), first Cincinnati hurler to enter the 20 game circle since Ewell Blackwell won 22 in 1947, completely handcuffed the team that signed him for $20,000 in 1953 and traded him to the Reds last winter. Jay scored the Reds' run on a two-out single to center by Vada Pinson. Carl Willey (5-11) was the loser.

Bill Mazeroski's second homer, with one on against reliever Dick Farrell (8-7) snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning and sent the Dodgers crashing to their fifth loss in six games. Dick Stuart also homered for the Pirates, his 20th. Haddix (9-6) came in when Bob Friend retired due to a stiff shoulder after giving up two runs in the first.

Rookie right-hander Jim Duffalo (4-0), recalled from Tacoma Monday, practically got the job done for the Giants singlehandedly in his first major league start. He limited the Phils to six hits and drove in four runs — three with his first big league homer.

Dallas Green (2-4) took the loss. Rain forced the New York Yankees-Chicago White Sox game to be postponed Wednesday night and rescheduled as a doubleheader today. Both Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle figure the postponement hurts their chances of breaking Babe Ruth's home run record.

"Somehow I've never done too well in doubleheaders," said Maris, the leader with 56 home runs and a three-game edge over Ruth record 60 pace of 1927.

"I'd rather play them one game at a time," said Mantle, three games behind the Bambino with 53 homers.

Dispute this there'll likely be a doubleheader sometime today. In the event of a further postponement, there is an open date Monday which may be used.

While the Yanks were idled, the second-place Detroit Tigers took the opportunity to reduce the American League leaders margin to 11 games by blanking the Kansas City A's 8-0 behind Jim Bunning's five-hit pitching and home runs by Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash.

The Cleveland Indians snapped a six-game losing streak by beating Baltimore 5-0 on Gary Bell's four-hitter, and Washington beat Boston 4-2. A two-night doubleheader between Los Angeles and Minnesota was postponed.

Kingston-Union Boosters Map Improvements

Members of the Kingston-Union Athletic Booster Club, meeting Monday night in the high school, laid out a five-point plan for improvement of athletic facilities during the school year.

Discussed for possible action were: 1. purchase of exhaust fans for gymnasium locker rooms; 2. erecting new bleachers on the auditorium-gymnasium stage; 3. installation of lights around grade school playground; 4. painting and repair of grade school basketball boards and standards; 5. placing a new backstop on the baseball diamond at the athletic field.

The group reviewed possibilities for carrying through these projects and decided to hear more detailed reports at a future meeting. Betty Sims, past president, led the discussion in the absence of Francis Kelley, club head.

The annual membership drive for the Boosters is now underway. It was announced the club will continue to sponsor Parent's Night and the awarding of trophies to Kingston senior sports participants.

JEAN SEARCH and Betty Sims were appointed to head a ways and means committee.

Gary Walsh, head Kingston coach, introduced the new reserve mentor, Gary Caudill and the two men discussed sports prospects informally with the members.

Next meeting for the Boosters is Oct. 10 at the school. A special kickoff covered dish dinner open to the public will be held 6:30 p. m. Oct. 24 in the school cafeteria.

Rookie Pitcher Convinces Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jim Duffalo told Manager Alvin Dark months ago that he could be a starting pitcher in the major leagues.

Duffalo, 25-year-old rookie, finally got his chance Wednesday night and turned in a six-hitter against the Philadelphia Phils for an 8-2 San Francisco victory.

Duffalo's fine job pulled the Giants into a third-place tie with Milwaukee.

Duffalo not only pitched his first complete major league game but knocked in four runs — three of them on his first big league homer.

"I'm convinced," said Dark.

Washington C.H. Mare Wins Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Miss Delightful came all the way from last place in the final quarter-mile to win the eighth race at Lebanon Raceway by a neck Wednesday night.

Driven by her owner, McKinley Kirk of Washington Court House, the 4-year-old bay mare stepped the mile in 2:06 to pay $3.20. Jetina paid $6.40 for place, and Tiny Gold was worth $2.40 for show.

Nicklaus Gets Favorite Role In Golf Test

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Collegiate champion Jack Nicklaus, with a "road map" he hopes will guide him to his second National Amateur title, had belted his way into the favorite's position today.

He and Joe Carr of Dublin have proved the stars of a field now reduced to 16 players with only four to remain by nightfall.

Ex-champs Harvie Ward and Charlie Coe and colorful Billy Joe Patton were among the upset victims Wednesday as the standout amateurs played two rounds. Carr was the only survivor of the ten starting foreigners.

After Nicklaus, 21, the Ohio State University ace, beat big Dave Smith of Gastonia, N.C., 2 and 1 in Wednesday's fourth round with a 4-under-par effort, he declared he has been having trouble judging distances on the 6,747-yard Pebble Beach course.

So he refers to diagrams and yardages he has noted on an expanded scorecard and carries in his right hip pocket.

Three-time British champion Carr, 39, a dress manufacturer, eliminated little Sam Marsh of Greenville, S.C., 2 and 1.

For today's fifth round, Nicklaus drew New York veteran Johnny Humm while Carr faced Chuck Courtney, 20, captain of the San Diego State College team. Courtney beat Walker cupper Dr. Frank Taylor 2-up in their fourth round meeting.

Ebenhack Booked At Lebanon Track

Hazel Mite, who whirled away from the field to win her last Lebanon effort, will be back in competition under the competent reins of Emmet Ebenhack at Lebanon Raceway tomorrow night.

Entered in the same event, a C-3 conditional pace for $400, will be Jerisong, driven by Forrest Short. This is the fourth race.

In the fifth race, a 25-26 class pace with $450 at stake will be Ebenhack with Vanguard Pick. The veteran harness pilot returns in the ninth race with Chalidale Betty in a C-3 pace carrying $400. Post time is 8:15 p. m.

LL Champs Feted At Ham Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Stevenson entertained members of the Little Major League champion Elks team and their parents with a ham dinner recently at Ted Lewis Park.

The boys topped the mothers 7-6 in a fun - filled pre - dinner ball game. Stevenson is a Little League official.

The team presented the Stevensons with a gift at the close of the dinner.

Players, parents, manager and assistant manager attended from the Elks unit.

Knut Rockne is still the winningest Notre Dame football coach. His teams won 105 games, 18 more than those coached by Frank Leahy.

LE Squad Ready for Battle

HERE THEY COME — Linemen brace to repel a simulated opponent as the Logan Elm Braves backfield unit executes a deft around-end sweep. A running attack is in the offing for the LEHS gridders when they travel to Plain City to open Jonathan Alder High School's football season.

Grid Fortunes May Hinge on Defense Work

By RON COFFMAN
Logan Elm football coach Keith Merrin's constant companion these days is a factpacked book titled "Modern Defensive Football."

Written by one of the nation's top grid generals, the University of Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson, it may contain the key to many of the Braves 1961 problems — at least mentor Merrin hopes so.

"I'm following Wilkinson pretty closely on defense theory, even though I don't think his brand of offense would work for us," the second-year Logan Elm pilot explained.

Defense is the basic thing, though and Merrin's 35-man outfit is getting in plenty of defensive drills after porous play against The Plains at Mt. Sterling last Friday cost them a 14-6 decision. "They beat us by sweeping around end. We don't want to repeat that this week," the coach said.

TESTING THE Braves revamped defensive unit Friday night will be Jonathan Alder of Plain City. A squad with a heavy contingent of first-year players, Alder is reputed to favor a wide-open brand of football.

The contest in Plain City, will be Alder's 1961 inaugural and they'll probably be out for a win by any possible method. Preliminary scouting reports indicate Logan Elm's opponent has just fair defense, passes frequently and possess average speed and depth.

Merrin, a Capital University graduate, displayed an exuberant confidence after his Wilkerson-influenced week of practice. "I think our defense is much improved and it looks as if our offense is ready to roll. The Plains' end runs ruined us. It appears we've overcome our weakness there," he stated.

Two defensive changes are on tap for the Braves lineup this week. Senior Lenny Hardman will move into the end spot while senior co-captain Roger Clarke has been nominated for a half-back assignment.

Offensively the only new face will be Don Hicks, a junior who takes over as right tackle, a slot vacated by shifts of other players. "I'm optimistic," Merrin stated. He was seconded by assistant Dow West, a man noted for caution when talking football chances.

THE LOGAN Elm locker room rings with light jokes and spirited chatter, signs of a confident club. It's a far cry from the gloom hovering over the Braves encampment a few nights ago.

Touring Sportswriters Take Look at Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Skywriters, a touring group of Midwest football writers, arrived here today to view Coach Woody Hayes' 1961 Ohio State Buckeyes.

No heavy scrimmaging is expected today, but Hayes did run his charges through a two-hour scrimmage Wednesday—the first such workout the Bucks have had this fall.

Although the coach was pleased with 14 completed passes out of 25 thrown, no interceptions and no injuries, he said the team was not hitting hard enough.

Redlegs' Joey Jay Becomes First 20-Game Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Joey Jay, 26-year-old Cincinnati Reds' right-hander discarded by Milwaukee after the 1960 season, became this year's first 20-game winner in the National League Wednesday night by beating his former Braves' teammates 4-0 with a four-hitter.

He also scored the game's only run in the fifth inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, with reliever Harvey Haddix pitching two hit ball over the final eight innings, beat second place Los Angeles 8-2 and dropped the Dodgers 5½ games back of the league-leading Reds. Any combination of nine Cincinnati victories and-or Los Angeles defeats will give the Reds the NL flag.

San Francisco's Giants moved into a tie for third place with the Braves by defeating last-place Philadelphia 8-2. The Chicago St. Louis game was rained out.

Jay (20-9), first Cincinnati hurler to enter the 20 game circle since Ewell Blackwell won 22 in 1947, completely handcuffed the team that signed him for $20,000 in 1953 and traded him to the Reds last winter. Jay scored the Reds' run on a two-out single to center by Vada Pinson. Carl Wiley (5-11) was the loser.

Bill Mazaroski's second homer, with one on against reliever Dick Farrell (8-7) snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning and sent the Dodgers crashing to their fifth loss in six games. Dick Stuart also homered for the Pirates, his 30th. Haddix (9-6) came in when Bob Friend retired due to a stiff shoulder after giving up two runs in the first.

RoOKIE right-hander Jim Duffalo (4-0), recalled from Tacoma Monday, practically got the job done for the Giants singlehandedly in his first major league start. He limited the Phils to six hits and drove in four runs — three with his first big league homer. Dallas Green (2-4) took the loss.

Rain forced the New York Yankees-Chicago White Sox game to be postponed Wednesday night and rescheduled as a doubleheader today. Both Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle figure the postponement hurts their chances of breaking Babe Ruth's home run record.

"Somehow I've never done too well in doubleheaders," said Maris, the leader with 56 home runs and a three-game edge over Ruth record 60 pace of 1927.

"I'd rather play them one game at a time," said Mantle, three games behind the Bambino with 53 homers.

Dispute this there'll likely be a doubleheader sometime today. In the event of a further postponement, there is an open date Monday which may be used.

While the Yanks were idled, the second-place Detroit Tigers took the opportunity to reduce the American League leaders margin to 11 games by blanking the Kansas City A's 8-0 behind Jim Bunning's five-hit pitching and home runs by Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash.

The Cleveland Indians snapped a six-game losing streak by beating Baltimore 5-0 on Gary Bell's four-hitter, and Washington beat Boston 4-2. A two-night doubleheader between Los Angeles and Minnesota was postponed.

21,632 Fans Cheer as Jay Wins No. 20

CINCINNATI (AP) — Six-foot-four Joey Jay leaped into the air. His fellow Cincinnati Reds swarmed over him. And the crowd of 21,632 shouted.

Joey had become the first pitcher here to win 20 games in one season since 1947 with a 1-0 shut-out.

Not only did he turn back his former teammates, the Milwaukee Braves, for whom he has no particular love, but he scored the one run in the game which gave Cincinnati its fifth consecutive victory in its drive toward the National League pennant.

Joey allowed his former mates only four hits Wednesday night as he became the National League's first 20-game winner this year.

With his defeat of the Braves, he approached the record set in 1947 by Ewell Blackwell. That was 22 victories. And, according to Manager Fred Hutchinson, Jay was "a very fine pitcher last night."

For Joey it was just enough to win the game.

"I have been given the chance to work regularly under Hutch," he said after the game. "I told Hutch I had to work regularly and it has paid off. I threw 105 balls I got tired in the eighth but I felt all right in the ninth."

As each batter went down in order in the final inning, the pressure on Jay seemed to increase.

He started the inning by going to first base to tag Ed Mathews. Next, he struck out Hank Aaron. "When I got Aaron, I gave a big sigh of relief. Then when Joe Adcock went out it was a great relief to me."

Bruce and Duff Greene, guards on the University of North Carolina football team, are twins.

Kingston-Union Boosters Map Improvements

Members of the Kingston-Union Athletic Booster Club, meeting Monday night in the high school, laid out a five-point plan for improvement of athletic facilities during the school year.

Discussed for possible action were: 1. purchase of exhaust fans for gymnasium locker rooms; 2. erecting new bleachers on the auditorium-gymnasium stage; 3. installation of lights around grade school playground; 4. painting and repair of grade school basketball boards and standards; 5. placing a new backstop on the baseball diamond at the athletic field.

The group reviewed possibilities for carrying through these projects and decided to hear more detailed reports at a future meeting. Betty Sims, past president, led the discussion in the absence of Francis Kelley, club head.

The annual membership drive for the Boosters is now underway. It was announced the club will continue to sponsor Parent's Night and the awarding of trophies to Kingston senior sports participants.

JEAN SEARCH and Betty Sims were appointed to head a ways and means committee.

Gary Walsh, head Kingston coach, introduced the new reserve mentor, Gary Caudill and the two men discussed sports prospects informally with the members.

Next meeting for the Boosters is Oct. 10 at the school. A special kickoff covered dish dinner open to the public will be held 6:30 p. m. Oct. 24 in the school cafeteria.

Rookie Pitcher Convinces Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jim Duffalo told Manager Alvin Dark months ago that he could be a starting pitcher in the major leagues.

Duffalo, 25-year-old rookie, finally got his chance Wednesday night and turned in a six-hitter against the Philadelphia Phils for an 8-2 San Francisco victory.

Duffalo's fine job pulled the Giants into a third-place tie with Milwaukee.

Duffalo not only pitched his first complete major league game but smothered in four runs — three of them on his first big league homer.

"I'm convinced," said Dark.

Washington C.H. Mare Wins Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Miss Delightful came all the way from last place in the final quarter-mile to win the eighth race at Lebanon Raceway by a neck Wednesday night.

Driven by her owner, McKinley Kirk of Washington Court House, the 4-year-old bay mare stepped the mile in 2:06 to pay $3.20. Jetina paid $6.40 for place, and Tiny Gold was worth $2.40 for show.

Nicklaus Gets Favorite Role In Golf Test

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Collegiate champion Jack Nicklaus, with a "road map" he hopes will guide him to his second National Amateur title, had belted his way into the favorite's position today.

He and Joe Carr of Dublin have proved the stars of a field now reduced to 16 players with only four to remain by nightfall.

Ex-champs Harvie Ward and Charlie Coe and colorful Billy Joe Patton were among the upset victims Wednesday as the standout amateurs played two rounds. Carr was the only survivor of the ten starting foreigners.

After Nicklaus, 21, the Ohio State University ace, beat big Dave Smith of Gastonia, N.C., 2 and 1 in Wednesday's fourth round with a 4-under-par effort, he declared he has been having trouble judging distances on the 6,747-yard Pebble Beach course.

So he refers to diagrams and yardages he has noted on an expanded scorecard and carries in his right hip pocket.

Three-time British champion Carr, 39, a dress manufacturer, eliminated little Sam Marsh of Greenville, S.C., 2 and 1.

For today's fifth round, Nicklaus drew New York veteran Johnny Hamm while Carr faced Chuck Courtney, 20, captain of the San Diego State College team. Courtney beat Walker cupper Dr. Frank Taylor 2-up in their fourth round meeting.

Ebenhack Booked At Lebanon Track

Hazel Mite, who wheeled away from the field to win her last Lebanon effort, will be back in competition under the competent reins of Emmet Ebenhack at Lebanon Raceway tomorrow night.

Entered in the same event, a C-3 conditional pace for $400, will be Jerisong, driven by Forrest Short. This is the fourth race.

In the fifth race, a 25-26 class pace with $450 at stake will be Ebenhack with Vanguard Pick. The veteran harness pilot returns in the ninth race with Chaldale Betty in a C-3 pace carrying $400. Post time is 8:15 p. m.

LL Champs Feted At Ham Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Blenn L. Stevenson entertained members of the Little Major League champion Elks team and their parents with a ham dinner recently at Ted Lewis Park.

The boys topped the mothers 7-6 in a fun - filled pre - dinner ball game. Stevenson is a Little League official.

The team presented the Stevensons with a gift at the close of the dinner.

Players, parents, manager and assistant manager attended from the Elks unit.

Knute Rockne is still the winningest Notre Dame football coach. His teams won 105 games, 18 more than those coached by Frank Leahy.

About Dozen Pacers Slated To Enter Little Brown Jug

DELAWARE, Ohio — At least a dozen of the nation's outstanding 3-year-old pacers will battle here in the 1961 renewal of the internationally famous Little Brown Jug Thursday, Sept. 21.

A crowd upwards of 35,000 is expected to witness the $70,000 classic, second leg on pacing's triple crown.

Setting for pacing's glamour race will be the Delaware half-mile track, rated by the U.S. Trotting Association, as the fastest in the harness racing industry. Delaware's annual Grand Circuit meeting opens next Monday with the Jug the grand windup on the following Thursday.

Fresh from victory in the Cane, first leg of the triple diadem, Cold Front will make an all-out effort to capture the Jug. He scored a stunner in winning the Cane from eight other Jug hopefuls in near world's record time for the mile and one sixteenth distance. His clocking of 2:08.3 was just three fifths of a second off the world standard. Cold Front is property of Stony Brook Stable, Yonkers, N.Y. He will have the services of driver Clint Hodgins who captured the 1959 Jug with heralded Adios Butler, first and only steed to sweep the triple crown.

Hodgins nor the owners regard their Adios speedster as anything close to a sure fire winner of the Delaware Classic, however, probable favorite will be Adios Don, despite a miserable performance in the Cane. He broke stride at the start and wound up a dismal ninth in the Yonkers clash.

Until the Cane, Adios Don had won nine of 12 starts this year. His 1:58.4 record is the third fastest of the present campaign by side-wheeling 3-year-olds.

Other speedsters which may make this year's battle the most wide open Jug in years include Lang Hanover, Henry T. Adios, and Brooks Hanover and a Way Wave to name only a few of Jug calibre.

Each of these possesses credentials that would make it a worthy successor to last year's Jug winner, Bullet Hanover.

Lang is the fastest this season with a mile clocking of 1:57.4. He'll likely be a sentimental choice by Ohioans who'll outnumber throngs of out of state visitors. He is the property of Cincinnati sportsman Samuel Huttenbauer and is trained and driven by Jim Rocky Hackett of London, Ohio. Lang has more sub two-minute victories this year than any other 3-year-old pacer.

Henry T. Adios has several victories to his credit but has looked best in finishing second in conflicts with Adios Don and Cold Front. He'll have the services of a perennial driving star, Stanley Dancer.

Adiosand, like Henry T. Adios, has looked best in the role of runner up although he too has some important victories. He's a member of the star-studded string of driving ace Del Miller.

Brooks Hanover has come on fast in recent weeks for little Joe O'Brien who handles him for the S. A. Camp Farms of Shafter, Calif. Cagey Joe won the Jug in 1958 with the Camp's Shadow Wave. Brooks is a full brother to Bullet Hanover which had to go in 1:58.3 to win last year's Jug.

The worst that can be said about Way Wave is that she is a filly. No feminine sidewheeler ever has been able to win the Jug. Nevertheless you can't write her off. The Castleton Farm star of driver Ralph Baldwin is the second fastest of the 1961 crop or 3-year-olds on the basis of an easy 1:58 win at Du Quoin, Ill., scene of the Hambletonian.

Just how many will compete in the Jug will be known Tuesday when owners must make the decision on making a $500 starting payment.

The 1967 University of Texas football schedule is now complete except for two games.
